RE: Gas Installations & Regulations

It has come to our attention that there is an increase in illegal LP Gas installations. In most cases the client is totally unaware of this.

The Minister of Labour published on 4th October 1997 an amendment to the Occupational Health and Safety Act 1993 in respect of 'The Vessels Under Pressure Regulations No.17468. This regulation states that as from the 1st August 1997 it is a legal requirement that

"No person shall install a fixed appliance, equipment or system for gas LP Gas fuel ..... unless such person is a holder of a certificate of registration ....."

Attached a copy of an Installers ID Card which should be asked for by the owner. Every registered gas installer must have this on them when the installation is done. The card does have an expiry date, so keep an eye out for that!

I have also attached a basic guide of the most important regulations regarding the location of the gas bottles.

If a house is sold and it has a gas line, a new certificate must be issued to the new owner of that unit.

Gas Experts have been legally installing gas lines for 3 years now, we will gladly come out free of charge to inspect any installation done or to advise on any new installation required.

Visit our website for more information or contact us on 086 111 3219.

Yours Sincerely

Installation Regulations

If you already have a Gas line installed but you don't know if it is legal, compare it to the following diagram. Give us a call just to make sure!

A - 1m sideways from Doors and Windows

B - 2m from Drains and Air Vents

C - 3m below windows, unless non combustible roof is installed between containers and windows

D - 3m from property boundary unless boundary is a Fire Wall

E - 5m away from a switchable electrical point i.e. plug socket, main power etc. (not a light)

Only Class 1 or 2 copper pipe can be used. NOT what is used in plumbing.

All pipes going through a wall must be sleeved.

Flexible hose may not be more than 2m and may not go through any partition at all (including wood and dry wall).
